- Appendix III: Faculty Board Advice to Examiners – updated 11th March 2021

A paragraph was added, stating:

On each written paper the number of questions for which credit may be obtained may be restricted. If a candidate submits more attempts than are allowed for credit in the rubric then assessors will mark all attempts and the candidate is given credit only for the best attempts consistent with the rubric. This policy is intended to deal with candidates who accidentally attempt too many questions: it is clearly not in candidates’ best interests to spend time tackling extra questions for which they will receive no credit.

- 7. Recordings – updated 11th March 2021

It was added that lecture recordings will remain available until the end of the academic year.
